

Assistant Professor Math Education

The College of Education at the University of Mary Washington invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor in Mathematics Education starting August 16, 2017. This position requires the successful candidate to excel in instruction, engage in scholarship, and participate in service. The candidate will be expected to (a) teach undergraduate and graduate courses in mathematics education, (b) supervise student interns, and (c) mentor student research projects. Additionally the candidate will be expected to advise students, engage in scholarly activity and provide service to the college, university, community, and profession.

The candidate must have advanced academic preparation in mathematics education, mathematics content knowledge equivalent to an undergraduate major in mathematics, and a minimum of three years' experience working in educational settings with students in grades K-12. The candidate must have a(n) Ph.D. or Ed.D. from an accredited institution completed by date of employment.

Applicants should have public school and college teaching experience. The successful candidate would also have educational or experiential preparation in one or more of the following areas: 1) instructional technology and technology supported pedagogy, 2) research methods, 3) teacher candidate and PK-6 learner assessment, and 4) working with culturally and linguistically diverse students. Experience in the education accreditation process through CAEP is also preferred.

Applications are due December 12, 2016. The University of Mary Washington accepts only completed online application and related materials. Faxed, mailed, or emailed applications or documentation will not be considered. You may apply on line at <https://careers.umw.edu>. Employment offers are contingent upon the successful completion of criminal background checks. If accommodations are requested either before or at the time of the interview, please contact the Recruitment Office at 540/654-1211.

The University of Mary Washington seeks to enrich its academic environment by continuing to provide equal educational and employment opportunities. We actively encourage women, minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans to apply.
