

Dean, Michael D. Eisner College of Education

One of the largest universities in the country, California State University, Northridge (CSUN) is an urban, comprehensive university that delivers award-winning undergraduate and graduate programs to nearly 40,000 students annually and counts more than 330,000 alumni who elevate Southern California and beyond. Serving more students on Pell Grants than any other institution in California, CSUN is also a social elevator and one of the most diverse universities in the country.

The Michael D. Eisner College of Education, the largest public college of education in California, comprises six departments, 27 credential programs, 14 master's degrees, and one doctoral degree. The College's programs and centers reflect its core values: achieving academic excellence, using evidence in making educational decisions, fostering ethical practice, developing collaborative partnerships, respecting diversity, and promoting creative and reflective practice. The Dean will serve as the chief administrator of the College and will play a major role in developing external relations with organizations, individuals, community, and government; and in seeking supplemental external support for the College. The Dean has responsibility for providing effective leadership to the increasingly diverse college environment.
