Dean, College of Education

The Pennsylvania State University seeks candidates for the position of Dean of the College of Education. Penn State, the land-grant University of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is one University geographically distributed, with 23 other campuses located throughout the Commonwealth, the online World Campus, and the centralized administrative hub at University Park. Reporting directly to the Executive Vice President and Provost of the University, the Dean serves as the principal academic and administrative officer of the College and will lead faculty and staff who are committed to providing extraordinary education, conducting research with impact, and fostering a community with distinction.

The College of Education has a well-deserved global reputation of excellence in instruction and research, boasting several programs ranked in the top ten in the nation by U.S. News & World Report. Through in-residence, blended, and World Campus online offerings, the College enrolls 1,865 undergraduate and 1,758 graduate students. The College faculty includes 116 tenure line and 79 fixed-term full-time faculty within the Departments of Curriculum & Instruction; Education Policy Studies; Educational Psychology, Counseling, and Special Education; and Learning and Performance Systems which offer 8 undergraduate, 27 masters, and 18 doctoral degree programs, as well as 12 professional certification programs. The College currently hosts 11 research centers and clinics supporting a wide range of activities in support of its mission. The College has an endowment of $52 million with 307 defined funds. The operating budget for the College is approximately $50 million, with the World Campus generating additional income. In the most recent period, College of Education faculty members were involved in over $20 million in sponsored research projects.

The College of Education seeks a distinguished scholar, with credentials appropriate for a tenured appointment at the rank of professor, to continue developing and building the College as a national and international leader. Prior leadership experience with responsibility for strategic planning, fundraising, managing complex budgets, personnel management, curriculum and program development, and fostering research and scholarship is desirable, along with the ability to inspire students to expand their knowledge and positively influence a multicultural, global society. For additional details and qualifications, please request the full position profile.

The review of candidates will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Nominations, inquiries, requests for the detailed position profile, and application material, including a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and the names of five professional references should be forwarded in confidence to:
